

Art Activity Ideas and Links

Keep your creative juices flowing with these ideas gathered from a range of online resources. Remember to take pictures of your masterpieces or keep them so that you can show your teachers what you have been up to!

Make your own Flat Stanley! Goldsmiths Centre for Contemporary Art has set up a “school” on Instagram @Down_up_down_up where they have posted a range of tasks including making a Flat Stanley. You need to lie down on some paper, get somebody to draw round you, decorate it, cut it out, fold it and then post it to the person of your choice!

<https://www.moma.org/magazine/articles/254>

Be inspired by artists such as Andy Warhol with the ideas given by New York’s Museum of Modern Art. Did you know that: Andy Warhol ate the same thing for lunch every day: a can of tomato soup. He said, “I used to have the same lunch every day, for twenty years, I guess, the same thing over and over again.” Make a drawing of what you like to eat for lunch. How will you represent, or show, your meal?

Become a young designer with the Young Design Museum and take on projects such as redesigning your own kitchen. Their website offers a number of lesson plans and work sheets and includes upcoming projects on the theme of the TV series Hey Dugee. Find out more at <https://designmuseum.org/digital-design-calendar/young-design-museum>

Get creative with collage at the Kettle’s Yard Gallery. Watch the Art to Go videos to see how you can produce wonderfully effective art pieces using everyday materials.

Learn how to draw Harry Potter characters! There are many quizzes to enjoy on JK Rowling’s Wizing World but look out for the “Wizing Wednesday’s” section where you can find instructions on how to draw a Niffler!

<https://www.wizardingworld.com/features/watch-our-guide-on-how-to-draw-a-niffler-video>

The fantastic children's illustrator Rob Biddulph has created weekly draw-along videos on his website:

<http://www.robbiddulph.com/draw-with-rob> Find out how to draw characters from his books such as Sausage Dog and Gregosaurus.

If you are a fan of Julia Donaldson or Nick Park, head to the Stratford Literary Festival's website where you can learn to draw crime-busting ladybirds and Gromit the dog!

<https://www.stratfordliteraryfestival.co.uk/article/sharing-stories>

Make a Chocolate
Painting

If you're tired of munching on your Easter chocolate, learn how to paint with it inspired by the wonderful Jackson Pollock! Visit the Tate Museum's website to discover a plethora of activities including the chance to hear Jacqueline Wilson talk about her favourite art:

<https://www.tate.org.uk/kids/make/paint-draw/make-chocolate-painting>

Jacqueline
Wilson's Magical
Tour of Tate
Britain